

OBITUARY.

Died in Anger Hospital, March 3d, 1864.
George C. Lamson, aged 19 years.

Geo. Lamson was the son of A. C. Lamson, of Stowe, Lamoille County, Vt. He entered the military service as a private in the 2d regiment U. S. Sharp Shooters, in 1861, and had nearly completed his first term of enlistment, when he was promoted to the position of Hospital Steward, the duties of which he had already been discharging for nearly a year.

Before he had completed his first term of service in his former regiment, he was prostrated by an attack of typhoid fever, which left him in such a condition as to be unfit for field service, and he was consequently retained in Convalescent Camp for duty, first as dispensing clerk, and then as Steward in charge of one of the Division Dispensaries.

In the discharge of the duties pertaining to the place he occupied, he so conducted himself, as to command the respect, and win the affections of all who knew him. From the Colonel in command and the Surgeon in charge, down through every rank, it would have been impossible to have found one, but would have rejoiced at the opportunity of doing him a kindness, or bestowing upon him marks of respect and confidence. On the 16th of February, of the present year, he received his appointment as a Steward in the Regular Army, and in accordance with his own request, was assigned to duty in the 23rd regiment U. S. Colored Troops. On Tuesday, the 23d of February, he suffered a slight attack of "diphtheria," but had nearly recovered from this, when, on Saturday evening following, severe "enteritis" set in, and continued up to the time of his death, on the twenty-third inst.

His friends in this Hospital, learning of his illness on Monday morning last, procured the proper order from the Medical Director of Washington, and he was transferred to this place on the same day. Everything that human skill or human kindness could effect, was done for his recovery, but without avail. If money, labor, care could have saved him, we would but have been too happy to have given them all. But it might not be. The summons came, unlooked for, but imperative; unwelcome, but unavoidable; and alone he went forth to grapple with the Death Angel in the mortal conflict.

We accompanied him to the brink of the river, glad to do the little that human love could prompt, or human efforts accomplish, but we could only stand and watch the dark waters closing over him, as he neared the other shore. His remains, attended by the proper escort, were conveyed to Washington to-day for embalming, where they will remain until the arrival of friends from home, who are hourly expected. We cannot take leave of him without a few reflections, that seem to be forced upon us by these solemn circumstances. But yesterday he was with us in all the vigor of early manhood, with high hopes and bright anticipations of the future; loved by all who knew him; to-day he is numbered among the "departed." His life, his death afford us a lesson. As he was virtuous, amiable, honorable, may we follow his example and cherish his memory as an incentive to upright thoughts and noble deeds. As he was called suddenly and unexpectedly, oh, may we be admonished that, "In such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh," and may we be so wise that we shall be found at the post of duty, ready to answer to the summons with the joyful assurance that we only lay aside the weapons of our warfare for the victor's palm and the conqueror's crown.

Augur Hospital, March 4th, 1864.

The town of Woodstock by a vote of 318 to 128, has voted a subscription of twenty thousand dollars to the capital stock of the Woodstock Railroad Company.

The work upon the new hotel at Waterbury is being vigorously prosecuted under the direct supervision of the officers of the company. It is to be built on the site of the old one that was burned a few years ago, and is to be very much larger and better in all respects. The building will cost not less than $20,000.—Watson's Daily.

The two great Grape Exhibitions held last autumn in New York and Cleveland awarded to the Adirondac the prize for the Best Native Grape of any Kind.

QUALITY TO RULE

The discovery and introduction of the Adirondac grape is an event of the highest importance to Fruit Growers, and the greatest advance yet attained by Native Grapes. Its peculiarities are: extreme earliness, large berries and bunches, tender and thin skin, melting without any perceptible pulp, and of the most delicious and delicate flavor, reminding one of that piquant hot-house grape, the "Black Hamburg."
